DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Professor John Franklin Genung, whose death was reported from Amherst in Thursday morning's paper, was a twin brother of Rev. George K. Genung, D.D., who for several years until recently, was pastor of the Baptist church at Brooklyn.

Mrs. Bertha Wilbur was a visitor with friends in Norwich Thursday. A number of Danielson people were at Putnam Thursday evening to attend the presentation of the film at the Bradley theater.

The duck hunters are meeting with success and say that variety of game is plentiful this season.

See the Quinebaug store coffee ad. The polls will be open here Monday, town election day, from 8 a. m. to 3 p. m., not until 5 p. m. as stated in Thursday's Bulletin.

Mrs. E. H. Keach will have the members of the Civic Federation at the hotel for meeting this (Friday) afternoon. This is the first fall meeting, and a very important one, of this organization, which is doing work of such great value to the local public.

It was being predicted here Thursday morning that the annual town meeting would be very heavy.

George C. Leighton of Nashua was a visitor with friends in Danielson on Thursday.

Beginning on Saturday this week the Pellet Motor Bus Service will run regular every hour and a half via Brooklyn on the Danielson-Moosup route. This will be a regular daily service—adv.

Thursday's announcements in The Bulletin relative to the appointment of a receiver for the Shore Line Electric Railway company was received here with very great interest. Coming within a few weeks after a statement that the road might be obliged to curtail service on some parts of its system it again brings to mind the danger that this section is facing the loss of its trolley service entirely, although it is hoped that this contingency will be avoided.

That business at the plant of the Aspic Proctor and Company at East Killingly is booming is indicated by the fact that this concern is endeavoring to increase its working force by securing an additional 50 employees. This concern operates the mill located near the trolley station at East Killingly.

Stock dividends of the Connecticut Mills company for the quarter just ended are indicative of the prosperity that this concern whose business means so much to Danielson, is enjoying. A considerable amount of the stock of the company is held by local people.

Automobiles have learned with a great deal of satisfaction that the road to Providence via Chapin again is open its entire length into the Rhode Island capital and is in fine condition. This road has been secured by the Connecticut Mills company, the inconvenience of the traveling public.

Ernest T. Kennedy of Putnam street has passed the examination required by the state board and has been licensed as an embalmer. Mr. Kennedy is associated with his brother, L. E. Kennedy, here.

At the Sacred Heart church in Wauregan Wednesday morning, Rev. J. C. Mathieu was celebrant of a high mass of requiem at the funeral services for Mrs. Philomena Bolvin. Burial was in the Sacred Heart cemetery.

The beaurs were Louis and Joseph Maynard, Tremie Corbiel, Edward Boucher, Joseph LeFevre and Octave Cardinal, L. E. Kennedy was the funeral director.

Attention has been called to the fact that children who are playing as a general practice on the ice escapes recently placed on the north side of the School street school are in grave danger of being seriously injured.

Some of the venturesome ones use the escapes to ascend to the third story level of the building and there embark on the most dangerous trip of their lives. The footing up there is always precarious and a little slip means a plunge to the ground and serious injury if not death.

The death of Mrs. Katherine Carroll, 59, occurred Thursday in Ellenville, where she has made her home for about ten years. Mrs. Carroll formerly lived in Putnam and Pascoag and was the widow of James Carroll. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. James Reynolds, of Ellenville.

Before Justice Frank T. Preston, on Thursday morning, a plea in abatement was argued by counsel representing the defendants in the case of Byron Lewis of East Killingly vs. Luther E. Hopkins of Providence.

Mr. Lewis is suing Mr. Hopkins for damages. The case grows out of alleged happenings said to have occurred during the early part of the past summer. At the time Mr. Lewis caused Mr. Hopkins' arrest for assault which he pleaded guilty and a small fine was imposed.

In preparing for a civil action for damages against Mr. Hopkins Harry El Bachman, a temporary receiver, money to be attached that was in the hands of Arthur G. Bill, prosecuting attorney, the northern judge on the criminal proceedings.

It is now claimed in Mr. Hopkins' behalf that this money, being in the hands of a public official, could not be attached, and it was on this point that the arguments at Thursday morning's hearing were heard. Justice Preston reserved his decision.

Danielson baseball fans have had the latest argument for Mr. Lewis' side before this season by the announcement that Babe Ruth, the Red Sox star, is to play at Putnam on Sunday as a member of the order here.

Wednesday evening's display of autumn bonfires was the most brilliant as yet seen in many years in this section of the country. The lights from the houses and the fires on the broad bands, and at times the swirl of the brilliant illumination was much the same as travelers who have watched the northern lights on the coast of Labrador have witnessed.

Members of Killingly Hunting and Fishing club are busy preparing for their annual hunt. No definite plans for the event have been made, but it is expected that it will be held some week in the month of October or during the early part of November.

Monday morning at 8 o'clock at Sacred Heart church, Wauregan, Miss Lillian Marrotte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Marrotte, of Brooklyn, Conn., became the bride of John Turner of Central Village.
